Foreword

Share with us the pleasures that we have had in becoming Future Pioneers of America.

In years to come we will cherish the memory of the happy times we have had here in Marlinton High School and may this book serve as a guide to these memories.

Dedication

We, the yearbook staff of 1952, wish to dedicate the Marlintonian to Mrs. Polly Reynolds, who, as our Junior sponsor before resigning at the end of the 1951 term, more than helped us to attain the title, Seniors.

Class History

We can all remember the first day of our freshman year when 72 freshmen assembled to begin the first of four years of high school. We were evenly divided with 36 girls and 36 boys. To lead us this year, we chose as President, Jimmy Davis, Vice President, John Coyner, Secretary, Bill Johnson, Treasurer, Lee White, Reporter, Bob Mace, and Cheerleaders, Betty Landis and Alma Pennybacker.

As sponsors we had Miss Moore and Mr. Spinaberry. Everyone was nice to us that year. Most of us still remember the delightful party the sophomores gave us on October 18. But, of course, who could forget the initiation!!!!

But, all in all, one of the most memorable of our years in high school was our second one. Were WE important? I remember the seniors THOUGHT they were important, but we sophomores KNEW we were important; and that M. H. S. couldn't get along without us. Sometimes, though, when we looked at our scholastic standings, we suspected that there might be a difference of opinion between faculty and students concerning our status. This was the year we really entered into the spirit of the thing. Some students participated in athletics, others were active in club work, and other extra curricular activities. We were under the guidance this year of Mrs. Moore and Mr. Anderson. This year, we chose for President, Lee White, Vice-president, Rose Ellen Kellison, Secretary, Jim Davis, Treasurer, John Coyner, Reporter, Bobby Dean, and cheerleaders, Betty Landis and Pat McNeill.

This year it was our turn to initiate the incoming Freshmen and we made the best of it. We parted that spring with a smile and plans for the next year. Yes, how dear old M. H. S. could have survived without us during our sophomore year is debatable.

One of the most progressive years we had was when we were Juniors. As Juniors, we had been in high school long enough to know our way around. We had become well versed in the traditions of the school and had acquired a sense of responsibility toward maintaining these traditions. By this time we had reduced the big headedness of our sophomore year to about normal size. The Juniors were the cream of the crop. We ACCOMPLISHED things. Mrs. Reynolds and Miss Shiffler advised our group this year, which numbered 61 and to lead us we elected as President, Lee White, Vice-president, Jim Davis, Secretary, Barbara Moses, Treasurer, Alma Pennybacker, Reporter, Arlo Alderman, and Cheerleaders, Pat McNeill, Betty Landis, and Alma Pennybacker. This year we entertained the Seniors with a banquet and the Junior cast presented the annual Junior Play to the student body and patrons. Realizing that education is not acquired from the printed page alone, some of our members participated in various athletic, scholastic, and religious programs, thus bringing recognition to our class for their endeavor in these fields.

Standing at the gateway to our Senior year, we were impressing the underclassmen with an exaggerated picture of our importance. In truth, we were just beginning to realize the value of our education in its' relationship to our future. We feel, after having spent 4 years in attaining our goal, we are standing on the threshold of another challenge. Only if we have spent our four years preparation profitably can we meet this challenge: "If you fail to prepare, you prepare to fail." This sobering thought emphasizes the importance of our educational advancement.

Senior Wills

We, the members of the Senior Class of nineteen hundred fifty-two, being of sound mind and realizing that our days in M. H. S. are growing short in number, do hereby make, publish, and declare our Last Will and Testament:

- I, Arlo Alderman, do hereby will my ability to make A's in English class to Jack Bear.
- I, Dale Armstrong, do hereby will my ability to talk fast to anyone in the Junior class who wants it.
- I, Helen Astin, do hereby will my singing voice to Collene in hopes that she will be a second Doris Day.
- I, Kermit Boggs, do hereby will my locker to Erma Lee Dilley.

Senior Prophecy

At a final class party before commencement, the Seniors engaged a gypsy fortune teller. As she gazed into her crystal ball, she saw a calendar for the year 1965 and a parade of familiar faces in strange surroundings wafted in and out of focus. Arol Alderman is seen as the operator of a swanky night club on Greenbrier Hill called the El Aro. Dale Armstrong, professor of Public Speaking at Stillwell College has just talked Helen Astin into becoming his wife. Kermit Boggs has just been put in charge of all popcorn machines in the Alpine theatre chain. Kyle Carpenter has just opened up a dude ranch on Jerico Flats. Curtis Carr has finally taken the pool crown away from Willie Hoppe in Madison Square Garden.

John Coyner has just completed building a bridge across Grand Canyon. Eugene Cutlip is seen knocking his sixty-first home run out of Yankee Stadium. Betty Pennington is the founder of The Pennington School of Beauty Culture in Bronx, New York. Fred Shafer heads his own troop of Hell Drivers currently showing at the Pocahontas County Fair. Patsy Simmons is seen yodcling on the Arthur Godfrey Talent Show.

Gazing deeper into the crystal ball we see Patsy Wooddell has dyed her hair red and is starring as center on the All-American Red Heads. Tom Malcomb has organized a hog-ring factory with Betty Meeks as his very efficient secretary. Boyd Wilfong is head of his own sales department.

The crystal ball clouds over and as it clears we see Delores Phillips as a Red Cross Worker in Korea giving coffee and doughnuts to Stanley Mc Neill, Keith Morrison and Eugene Wilfong, who are still Buck-Privates in the Infantry. Their company commander is Lowell Gibson. Evelyn Ervine and Evelene Hannah are completing their tour of inspection in the Womens Marine Corp and Army Nurses Corps in the Far East.

The crystal ball next shows a schedule of Television Programs. Eva Jane Sharp Chesnut is giving advice to Gail Varney on "Why Every Girl Should Be Married." Alma Pennybacker is modeling dresses for the famous dress designer, Jewell Galford, on Paris Fashions of 1965. Appearing as the successor to Abbot and Costello, Julian Hively and Keith Moore are starred in "It Pays To Be Ignorant." The evenings program also shows Eddie Seagraves and his all girl orchestra featuring Janet Morrison and her magic saxophone and Bonnie Showalter, as the girl with the golden vocal cords. The final performance of the evening lists; Betty Landis and Helen Rogers as the Hadachol dancers.

The crystal ball is filled with a swirling mass of fog and as it clears a safari is shown beating its way through the treacherous jungles of the Upper Congo. She sees at its head Jimmie Davis and his faithful wife, Pat McNeill on their way to Christianize a tribe of man-eating cannibals. Incidentally, the Davis's first converts in Africa were Chief Big Feet Faulkner and Witch Doctor Herb Morrison. On a previous expedition the remains of Thomas's Grocery Truck and Guy Jackson were found in one of Tarzan's jungle traps.

Next the ball shows a flitting group of scenes. Jonas Dilley is the new principal of Marlinton High School and on his staff are: Zoe Carpenter as Home Ec. teacher, Jo Ann Rexrode as commerce teacher. Sally Buzzard with her husband and five children are seen attending the Drive-In-Theatre at Beckley, operated by Alfred Thomas. The picture is "Men Prefer Blonds," starring Oleta Davis. The Harlem Glob Trotters are enjoying a band of all-stars from Pocahontas County. The Pocahontas all-stars include: Bob Welder, Lee White, Smokey Johnson, Elmer Friel, and Bob Mace. The all-stars are coached by Sam Harper and boast a losing streak of one hundred and four straight games.

Next we see Barbara Moses and Curtis Curry managing a Walgreen Drug Store. They still haven't decided whether two can live as cheaply as one. Their sale force includes: Norma Sue McKenny, Wanda Newman, Thelma Burgess, Geraldine Burback, Jo Ann Friel, and Eleanor Jo Gibson.
